What's New In?

| What's New in Microsoft®.NET Framework 4.6? With the.NET Framework 4.6, Microsoft's goal is to enable a developer to use the right framework for the right job. This means delivering a platform that is consistent and predictable. These goals were achieved by delivering Windows Presentation Foundation (WPF) 4.6 to the.NET Framework. To provide consistency,.NET Framework 4.6 delivers multiple new features and enhancements to the.NET Framework, such as: * Data-binding: Provides a way to bind data to.NET controls * DataGrid: Provides a DataGrid control for displaying data that binds to a DataTable, DataView, or other types of data source. * Input: Provides a lightweight form-based input mechanism for binding data to controls. * Windows Forms and Windows Presentation Foundation (WPF) 4.6: Lets developers use a programming model that provides the best of both worlds:.NET Framework Framework for more robust and code-centric development * Rich Communication Services (RCS) Support for Windows Phone 8.1, Windows Phone 8.0, and Windows Phone 7.5 * XAML 4.6: Is optimized for performance and provides a better way to programmatically define and use user interfaces (UIs). * Windows Runtime (WinRT): Provides a programming model that allows developers to build libraries and applications that are targeted to Windows 8 and Windows 8.1 and Windows Phone 8.1. * Windows Store Apps 4.6: Allows Windows Store apps to take advantage of the Windows Runtime and features that are available to developers on Windows 8 and Windows 8.1 devices. * Windows Store 9.0 Support: Gets you ready to build Windows Store 9.0 apps. Windows Runtime (WinRT): Windows Runtime builds on the.NET Framework 4.6 and includes a set of common libraries that Windows developers can use to build universal applications that run on Windows 8 and Windows 8.1 devices. WinRT provides APIs that help you develop applications that share a common core with Windows and Windows Phone applications. WinRT is designed for scenarios that require applications to run on multiple device families, such as tablets and smartphones, as well as desktop computers and televisions. WinRT-based applications run on a variety of devices. Windows Runtime apps (WinRT apps) are designed to run on Windows 8, Windows 8.1, Windows Phone 8, and Windows Phone 8.1. WinRT apps can be built using WinRT or Windows Forms. WinRT apps and Windows Forms apps are built using Visual Studio 2013. For information about programming for WinRT and Windows Forms, see
