KeyMacro is a searchable and sorting menu navigation software that offers great features that help users save time and money. The menu tool is ideal for business menus where the user can add and modify items, and see the results instantly. The program is capable of a range of search options, and the results can be sorted by criteria. The program also has a filter option to remove some unwanted results. KeyMacro works with any Windows application, and there is an optional module to link the menus of those applications to KeyMacro's interface. The application supports different styles of menus, such as pull down, pop up, and static. Users can add and delete menu items, as well as modify them to their liking. They can create sub-menus, too, and to help users, the application has an item guide that helps users understand the menu and how to modify or add items to it. The program allows users to hide the menu itself when it is inactive. A great feature of the application is that it can display multiple menus for one user. This enables them to have more than one set of menus, and user preferences can be modified by each menu. It also allows users to transfer all the settings and menus to a new computer. A powerful and handy application that saves time and money
